Not only was additional testimony ad duced before Acting Commissioner of Accounts Harry M. Rice to-day tending to prove that graft money was extorted in Alderman Niles R. DISTRICT-ATTORNEY

Whitman Closely Guards Facts Secured by Detective Involving Police and Civilians Not Before Mentioned.

MAY INDICT TWO MORE "STRONG-ARM" DETECTIVES

Zelig's "Frame-Up" Story Furnishes Murder Motive, Accusing Becker, Who Will Be Tried First.

Investigators employed by the District-Attorney reported to-day that they had just discovered a block of real estate, in the shape of building lots, at Whitestone, L. I., purchased last May by an inspecto of police, whose name has figured in the accusations of police graft growing out of the Rosenthal murder.

The consideration that passed for the lots was $10,000. The inspector paid cash. The lots are choice and were selected with care and an eye to future profit.

In view of the tradition that policemen are thrifty the fact that a police inspector invested close to three years' salary in building lots in one transaction might not have attracted the investigators but for the fact that the investment was made in the month of May. It was in May that Rosenthal's gambling house was raided. In April and May Becker made his big deposits. The confession of Jack Rose shows that gamblers were giving up plentifully during the spring months. Hence a record of the transfer of building lots in Whitestone for $10,000 was carefully made and is now in the hands of the District-Attorney.

BURNS BRINGS SECRET EVIDENCE TO WHITMAN.

New and important evidence in the graft phase of the Rosenthal inquiry, which is to be taken up by the Grand Jury now that the murder indictments have been found, was turned over to the District-Attorney to-day by William J. Burns, the private detective. The information supplied by Burns was gathered by operatives in his employ and is said to implicate police officials and others not heretofore mentioned in the development of the inquiry.

While Burns's evidence is of value in itself it is doubly valuable to the District-Attorney in that it is confirmatory evidence that has been gathered from "Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and other witnesses who have made statements to the District-Attorney. Under the Dowling law, which permits the District-Attorney to promise immunity to Grand Jury witnesses, Mr. Whitman hopes to build up a complete case against grafters in the Police Department and outside.

The Grand Jury is to hold a meeting to-morrow to consider charges of oppression and perjury made against Police Detectives Steinert and White, on behalf of Jack Zelig, the gang leader. Zelig and several witnesses have testified that Steinert and White charged Zelig with carrying a revolver, but that he was unarmed when arrested by the two officers. Zeils, however, neglected to say that the cases on the ground that the he was not arrested directly on a state of the public mind in New York charge of carrying concealed weapons, precludes the possibility of a fair but for holding up and robbing a westrial. Certainly Justice Goff will not before acting definitely on the request before acting definitely on the request of the District-Attorney that Stelaert with no murder trials to occupy his and White be indicted.

After tomorrow's session the Grand Gord will, with the assistance of the Jury will adjourn for two weeks During that time the District Attriney will have on his hands the double task of working up the graft evidence in shape for the proceeding for the purpose of working up the graft end of the investigation.
